You were a picture I drew in my dreams From ochre gold to startled green
Sailed an ocean of familiar tears Each night a million years
Among the stars we roamed Your wings to carry us home
You were more than real to me and you lay down and you lay down

I've lost where the boundries are even now it seems so far

Somewhere in the dark of night I hear you I can't feel you
I don't know where the last trace of life has gone oh woah
Somewhere long past midnight I lost you I can't feel you
I don't know where the rest of the dream has gone

An eternity ends too soon We have floated past the moon
Back to Earth we are gliding now Flown as far as love allows

I've lost where the boundries are even now it seems so far

Somewhere in the dark of night I hear you and I feel you
I don't know where the best of the dream has gone
Somewhere long past midnight I lost you I can't feel you
I don't know where the rest of the dream has gone

I sailed an ocean of familiar tears Each night a million years
Among the stars we roam your wings to carry us home

I've lost where the boundries are Even now it seems so far

Somewhere in the dark of night I hear you I can't feel you
I don't know where the last trace of life has gone
Somewhere long past midnight I lost you I can't feel you
I don't know where the best of the dream has gone woah
